Slavery’s Metropolis (2016)

Dr. Rashauna Johnson is a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Howard University, where she earned a bachelor’s degree in Afro-American studies and political science. She earned a Ph.D. in history from New York University. Her first book, Slavery’s Metropolis: Unfree Labor in New Orleans during the Age of Revolutions (Cambridge, 2016) explores the intersections of urban bondage and Atlantic migration at the turn of the nineteenth century.
