Eco Practicum Information Session

Join us as we welcome Eugenia Manwelyan, Director of Eco-Practicum for an information session on a Summer 2012 undergraduate experience. Eco-Practicum would like to connect with students and student groups that might be interested in hearing about it, and also with professors who would like to email info out to their students, post fliers, or give them an opportunity to present this in their classrooms.

What is Eco Practicum?
Eco Practicum is a summer environmental sustainability and action program for undergraduate students interested in engaging with the most urgent regional socio-environmental issues. Participants meet with representatives from more than 20 of the region’s most effective environmental organizations, engage in short field work excursions with each of them, and practice various farming and animal husbandry techniques on a facility in Sullivan County, New York. Partner organizations include Sullivan County Division of Planning, Catskill Mountainkeeper, Gorzynski Farm, and NY State Department of State. It is a four-week program, and each week has a different environmental theme. Participants can sign up for any or all of the weeks.

For more information, visit: www.EcoPracticum.com

When: Monday, February 6, 2012, 12-1pm
Where: Eaton 206, Medford Campus

EcoPracticum.com

The EcoPracticum is an environmental sustainability and action program for undergraduate students and recent grads. Learn while impacting society and shaping the global future.

- Field Work with the Region’s Most Effective Organizations
- Practice Farming Models (Organic, Urban, Permaculture)
- Meet Experts, Farmers, Activists and Policy-Makers
- Understand the Economics of Environmental In/Justice
- Flexible Options: Sign Up for 1 Up to All 4 weeks