Information about zika, its transmission and its effects is changing on a daily basis.
What do we know? What don't we know?
What should be done in the face of uncertain scientific information?