Together: Strengthening the Health of Chinatown
An Asian Health Symposium

Friday, October 16, 8:30AM—3:00PM
Tufts University School of Medicine, Sackler Center, Room 114
145 Harrison Avenue, Chinatown, Boston

How can research and community partnerships improve health?

Join us for this exciting forum to learn about:

- Using data to advance health in Chinatown
- Results of a Healthy Chinatown needs assessment about healthy eating and active living for children in early education programs
- How to increase utilization of preventive care in Asian American women in Massachusetts
- How a Head Start Center benefits from academic-community collaboration

In the afternoon, work groups will discuss collaborative approaches to:

- Wellness & chronic disease management
- Health care access
- Child health & family development
- Environment & land use

Members of the public, community activists, researchers, clinicians, and students are encouraged to attend. Come for all or part of the event!

A light breakfast and lunch will be provided.

To sign up, please visit www.tuftsctsi.org or scan the code below.
For more information, email risha.de_leon@tufts.edu.