III. Three electives from any of the approved courses listed. One of these electives may be a Latino Studies course or a Natural Science course (if specific to Latin America) upon approval of the LAS program director. An internship may also be considered with the approval of the director. If a student decides to write a Senior Thesis, one of these electives will be the first semester of the Senior Thesis.

IV. One Senior Seminar or a one-semester Independent Research Project LAS 197/198 (in consultation with the Major adviser), or the second semester of a Senior Thesis.

IMPORTANT NOTES:
At least one of the requirements must focus on pre-20th century Latin America and at least one of the requirements must focus on indigenous cultures/societies. This list is a sample of courses but is NOT a complete list. Before you register, consult the listings in the course's home department.

Courses listed with an asterisk (*) are not exclusively concerned with Latin American material. Students who wish to count these courses for LAS must first consult with the course instructor, they must focus their course work on appropriate LAS topics, and they must complete a Course Content Certification Form. Students may count no more than one asterisked course for the minor.

Courses listed with a double asterisk () are Latino Studies courses. Students may credit no more than one Latino Studies course for the major or minor.
