Ignacio M. Sánchez Prado is Jarvis Thurston and Mona van Duyn Professor in Humanities at Washington University in St. Louis. He is the author of seven books, including Strategic Occidentalism. On Mexican Fiction, the Neoliberal World Market and the Question of World Literature. He has also edited fourteen critical collections, including Mexican Literature in Theory and Pierre Bourdieu in Hispanic Literature and Culture. His work focuses on the relationship between cultural institutions and aesthetics in Mexico and he has published over ninety articles and book chapters on questions of Mexican literature and cinema, world literature and cultural theory.